

Studio Manager

Location: Somerset House
Reporting to: Oscar Daws, Director

Summary

We are an award winning, London based product design consultancy and are looking for a talented Studio Manager to join our team as we grow.

As a Studio Manager, you will support the team by helping manage the day-to-day operation of the business. You will work closely with the directors to plan, forecast and manage project resource, improve efficiency in the studio, communicate with clients and manage day-to-day operational / administrative tasks. You will need an exceptional eye for detail, very strong management and administrative skills, and a confident, personable approach.

We are primarily looking for part time applications (approx. 3 days pw) due to the size of our team. However we will also consider full time applications if you think you are particularly suited to the role. The ability to convert to a full time role at a later date is a bonus, as is a desire to take on further management responsibilities over time. Must be willing to work on-site at our studio in Central London on a hybrid basis at minimum.

Key Responsibilities

- Management of internal studio meetings
- Assisting with budgeting, expenses, invoicing, planning, forecasting and other finance-related tasks
- Management of studio resources (including digital resources like subscriptions) to ensure the design team can work efficiently
- General office management tasks
- 'Front of house' assistance (greeting clients, answering calls etc.)
- Planning studio resource and sourcing freelancers where necessary

Benefits Include

- Work in the historical and beautiful Somerset House, just a stone's throw from Covent Garden
- An additional day holiday for each year you are with us
- Annual charitable contributions on your behalf to your chosen cause
- Cycle to work scheme and on-site showers
- Discounts at all Somerset House coffee shops / restaurants and local gyms
